Hi Tanya. I was wondering where we are in regard to eco assessments at the Rolling Knolls site. A brief summary provided by the previous case manager indicated that there are (not surprisingly) numerous ecologic issues associated with the site. I assume that eco studies have already been conducted, but based on conversations with the TC involved with the case, nothing had been referred to him for his review. If you could let me know where the case is at in this regard it would be much appreciated. As always, I appreciate your patience as I come up to speed on the project. - Jill
